

EDUCATION SESSIONS

The City of Bunbury provides a wide range of free waste education sessions and activities to improve awareness and engagement on local sustainability issues and waste diversion.

The sessions are informative, fun and designed to educate the community about how waste and recycling impacts the environment and how they can reduce their waste and better use their bins at home and in the community.

The City's Waste Education Officers attend businesses, local community groups, retirement villages and host pop up information displays at shopping centres and events.

The sessions can be tailored to suit the needs of your group.

We can perform a composition waste audit, give an analysis of your waste, offer a range of services and tools to help you start your sustainable journey.

Early Learning

Community Groups

Secondary and TAFE

New Parents

Workplaces

Retirement Villages

Multi Unit Dwellings and Strata Groups

Displays

Audits

Support for planning actions to reduce waste, improve recycling systems, start a new collection.

For more information contact our Waste Education Officers on 9792 7333.

Email: wasteeducation@bunbury.wa.gov.au